New York Adopts Light Saving.

(Randolph Herald) With the general passing out of daylight saving, there are communities likely to cling to it. New York City is one of these. The municipal government has ordered that next summer the clocks shall be set ahead an hour, during the long-day period. It is considered probable that the enstate may follow suit. Just what the effect would be on the relations between New York and the outside world is something of a poser. Much confusion might follow. There is one way that any community so disposed may save that hour of daylight without any mixup and that is for the residents to arise an hour earlier in the morning. It is (we
